Thank You

Marsha and I thank the church for allowing us to take this time for vacation. We have not had a vacation for almost three years. It began with Marsha's cancer diagnosis and treatment. The COVID pandemic then shut us down as it did many of you. The changing of churches also delayed any time away. The time away was refreshing and we are primed to get going again.

Also, I want to thank the brethren who preached in our absence, Matt Brooks, Travis Cooper, and Wayne Patrick. It is good to know that there are competent and qualified men to fill the pulpit while the pastor is away.

Pastor's Paragraphs

For the next three weeks, I will write some thoughts from our vacation trip to Colorado. Most of the national parks we visited were in part where the native American ancestors lived in southwestern Colorado. The first one is from the ancestors of the Pueblo Indians.

This quote comes from a plaque in the visitor center of Mesa Verde National Park. "From the Pueblo perspectives, religious practice is not different from farming, hunting, gathering, or other activities necessary for the survival of the community."

This reminded me of Paul writing in his epistles for husbands to love their wives, for children to obey and honor their parents, and the relationship between servants and masters (Ephesians 5:22 – 6:9 and Colossians 3:18 – 4:1).

Godly worship is not just what we do Sunday morning, evening and Wednesday night. Worship is how we work, live at home, and even relax. Paul summed it up with these words, "And whatsoever ye do in word and deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him," Colossians 3:17.
