SIN'S WEIGHT UNFELT

Anonymous

A rather flippant sort of scoffing young man asked a preacher in a mocking fashion, "You say that unsaved people carry a great weight of sin. Frankly," he said, "I feel nothing. How heavy is sin? Ten pounds? Fifty pounds? Eighty pounds? A hundred pounds?"

The preacher thought for a moment and gently replied, "If you laid a 400 pound weight on a corpse, would it feel the load?"

The young man was quick to say, "Of course not, it's dead."

To which the preacher replied in driving home the point, "The man who does not know Christ is equally dead. And though his load of sin is great, he feels none of it."
